

Hello Students –

We are in the middle of crazy winter weather - snow over the weekend and potentially 70's by midweek!!! That combined with the fact that most of you are in the midst of the first round of exams – means a lot of stress on your immune system. Even though we are all busy, remember to take time for yourself to de-stress. Time to breathe, workout, relax, etc. is just as important as your studying time and can actually help you to do better in your classes. Also remember, if you are having problems in your classes – go to see your professors. We are here to help you.

NRP has set up the event tracker to sign up for specific tasks for the CTY event to be held on Saturday, March 3rd. If you are not an NRP member but you would still like to get involved, contact Amy Monasterio @ amonast1@jhu.edu or Kumar Muthukumar @ smuthuk1@jhu.edu, the CTY Chairs.

Have a GREAT week!!!
