Max Kade Center Summer Travel Grant
Deadline Extended to April 30

The German Program, with the support of the Max Kade Center for Modern German Thought, is pleased to announce 10 Travel Grants in the amount of $1,200 to support summer study abroad (German language courses, seminars in other disciplines, internships) in Germany.

Eligibility: Applicants must be full-time undergraduates at Johns Hopkins University. Prior knowledge of German is not required to apply for the grant and students from across the university are encouraged to apply. Preference is given to students who are German majors, German minors or students enrolled in courses in the German program.

Application Process: Applicants apply directly to Teri Caughman (Trobin52@jhu.edu), Co-Director of the Max Kade Center for Modern German Thought. Applications are due by April 2, 2018 – extended to April 30 - and must include:

___ Copy of Transcript
___ Name of Academic Advisor (as reference)
___ Statement of Purpose (reasons for studying German & studying in Germany, ½ - 1 page)
___ Information about the program applicant has applied to / intends to apply to.

For more information, contact Professor Marton Dornbach mdornba1@jhu.edu or Deborah Mifflin mifflind@jhu.edu, the German Language Program Director.
