

AS384.315-316

3rd Year Hebrew

SYLLABUS

COURSE DESCRIPTION

AS384.315-316 (3rd Year Hebrew) is designed for students who have completed 1st and 2nd year Hebrew and wish to master the language at a higher academic level. High-level applications of the language in reading, writing and discussing organic texts will come to dominate most of the sessions as the term progresses, with the remainder of classes devoted to lectures on grammar and culture aimed at enhancing the theoretical knowledge required for tackling the advanced materials.

The goal of the course is the simultaneous progression of four skills (speaking, listening, writing, and reading Hebrew) as well as familiarity with aspects of Hebrew linguistics and culture that are necessary for higher-level language competency. It is expected that, by the end of the spring term, students will have mature speaking and listening comprehension skills and will be able to contend with intellectually demanding reading and writing assignments.

The specific objectives of the course are for students to:

- round out their command of Hebrew grammar and be able to put it to use in intellectually demanding contexts;
- deepen their familiarity with Hebrew/Israeli culture as needed to facilitate cultural literacy;
- understand and participate in conversations to communicate in contexts where Hebrew is spoken;
- be able to read intellectually challenging material, and to address it intelligently, in Hebrew;
- be able to write intelligently in response to questions about such material.

In a language course like this, it is crucial that students attend every class, since new material is presented every day. Much learning, though, must take place outside of class. This means, among other things, that you should read and review each lesson BEFORE that lesson is discussed in class. That is the only way to gain maximum benefit from each class and to avoid falling behind. We would like to remind you that acquiring a language is NOT something that can be achieved through overnight cramming; rather, it can only be accomplished through the accumulation of daily effort.

Although attendance is not one of the grading criteria, it is mandatory to attend all classes. Excessively lax attendance will be reflected in your course grade, as explained below.

Exams:

Two exams are given during each term, a mid-term (shown in the schedule) and a final exam (during the final exam period).

The written exams do not go beyond the specified time, although an oral component may exceed time depending on the given tasks. These exams cover materials introduced in class up to the day each exam is given. Detailed information will be provided in class.

Quizzes:

Quizzes will be given at the beginning of class, so it's essential that you arrive on time.

Quizzes are restricted to the first ten minutes of class. The average of all quizzes excluding your lowest graded quiz is counted toward your final score.

Assignments:

Assignments will be given in class or via email, or both, and must be submitted at the beginning of the next class. Late submissions are not accepted. The average of all assignments is counted toward your final score, excluding your lowest graded assignment.

POLICY (strictly observed)

1. Our Center strictly observes the procedures regarding violations of academic integrity published on the JHU website. The following is an excerpt from the JHU website: <http://www.graduateboard.jhu.edu/integrity.htm>

Academic Integrity: In all aspects of their work, students assume an obligation to conduct themselves in a manner appropriate to the Johns Hopkins University's mission as an institution of higher education. A student must refrain from acts that he or she knows, or under the circumstances has reason to know, may impair the academic integrity of the University. Violations of academic integrity include, but are not limited to: cheating, plagiarism; submitting as one's own the same or substantially similar work of another; knowingly furnishing false information to any agent of the University for inclusion in the academic records; dishonesty in discharging teaching assistant duties; falsification; forgery.

Student Conduct: The University expects all students to respect the rights of others, and to refrain from behavior that impairs the University's mission of teaching, research/scholarship, and outreach to the local, national, and international community. Violations of appropriate student conduct may include, but are not limited to: harassment behavior (physical or verbal); intimidation or verbal abuse; actions that are a danger to one's own personal safety or that may harm others, and actions that destroy, impair, or wrongfully appropriate property.

Students are expected to know and abide by University policies governing student conduct and academic integrity. Those who impair the University's mission are subject to expulsion. Refer to your divisional academic policies and procedures for specific information.

2. This course is not designed for students who identify Hebrew as their first language. The Center for Language Education reserves the right to place students in the language course appropriate to their level of language skill.
3. No incomplete grade is given.
4. If another course is overlapping with AS384.315-316, you must choose one course or the other. Simultaneous registration is strictly prohibited.

5. If you have to miss a quiz under extenuating circumstances, it is your responsibility to contact the instructor in advance and arrange a time to make up the quiz/exam. Requests to the instructor after the fact will not be considered. (Contact the instructor directly via e-mail, phone, etc., regarding a possible delay of your arrival. Do not leave a message with the administrator in the Center for Language Education.)
6. Anyone leaving class immediately after taking a quiz will receive a score of zero on that quiz unless s/he has presented a justifiable reason PRIOR to that class. If you arrive more than ten minutes late, you cannot take the quiz for that day unless a legitimate reason was presented in advance.
7. Written assignments must be submitted upon your arrival to the classroom. Late submission after 3:00 p.m. of the due date is not accepted.
8. Attendance is one of the MOST IMPORTANT aspects of the course and is essential to your development of language SKILLS. In order for you to form good attendance habits, we employ the following policy:
Students missing more than 2 classes (unexcused absences) forfeit two points from their final score for every three unexcused absences beyond the first 2. For example, if you miss 5 classes in a term, the first two absences are exempted, then 2 points are lost for the remaining three and are subtracted from the final score you receive in the course. In addition, if you miss part of class time, you are considered tardy. Two “tardies” will be counted as 1 absence. If your absences add up to 20% of classes or more, you will be asked to withdraw from the course. If you must miss class due to unavoidable circumstances, let your instructor know immediately before class starts and wait for instructions.
9. In order to move on to the next term, you must receive at least a grade of C+. If you receive a grade of C or below and wish to continue to the next term/level, you need to study during the break and pass a placement test before the new term starts.
10. The Center for Language Education does not allow individuals to "sit in" on classes or register as audit. All students must register with a grade option. Exceptions for graduate students may be authorized by CLE on an individual basis.
11. The Center for Language Education follows Hopkins regulations and policies regarding religious holidays detailed in the student handbook. Religious holidays are valid reasons to be excused from class. Students who must miss a class or examination because of a religious holiday must inform the instructor as early in the semester as possible in order to be excused from class and to make arrangements to make up any work that is missed. Students who expect to miss several classes because of religious holidays are encouraged to meet with their academic advisers to consider alternative courses prior to registration.
http://education.jhu.edu/catalog/admission\_registration\_finance/registration/religious\_holidays.html
12. Federal law and the university policies define a “disability” as a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits or restricts the condition, manner, or duration under which an average person in the population can perform a major life activity, such as walking, seeing, hearing, speaking, breathing, learning, working, or taking care of oneself.

Any student with a disability who may need accommodations in this class must obtain an accommodation letter from Student Disability Services, 385 Garland, (410) 516-4720, studentdisabilityservices@jhu.edu

REQUEST AND RECOMMENDATION

1. Please do not consume food during class time.
2. If you feel that you are falling behind or that you cannot avoid missing classes, please contact us immediately. Since we meet frequently, we need to keep you informed of various events, assignments and other issues.
3. Students are advised not to take a language course if they already have 18 other credits. Language courses require regular daily practice and a high level of commitment and cannot be regarded as light extra courses.
4. We recommend that you take a language course based on a letter grade and NOT as a pass/fail. In particular, a C+ or better is required to move to higher levels, and a pass/fail masks the difference between C and C+.
