Recent research on inequality and poverty has shown that those born into low-income families, especially African Americans, still have difficulty entering the middle class, in part because of the disadvantages they experience living in more dangerous neighborhoods, going to inferior public schools, and persistent racial inequality. “Coming of Age in the Other America” shows that despite overwhelming odds, some disadvantaged urban youth do achieve upward mobility.

Stefanie DeLuca, PhD, is an associate professor of sociology at the Johns Hopkins University. Her research uses sociological perspectives to inform education and housing policy.
Our itinerary includes a keynote address from Dr. Sameena Mulla (Marquette University) as well as an introduction from Dr. Angela Garcia (Stanford University). Attached is the conference agenda - we are excited to include panels exploring aspiration through the political, creative forms, medicine, and migration. We also look forward to welcoming presenters from far and wide, including panelists from Mexico, Turkey, and South Korea.

Eye Health Survey

If you are currently taking courses at the Bloomberg School of Public Health (including undergraduate students), you are eligible to complete a survey on eye health for a chance to win a $25 Amazon gift card. This survey is being conducted by a group of JHSPH students from the Health Communications course (410.655) to assess the effectiveness of a campaign aimed at improving eye health.

We think your opinions are important and would really appreciate it if you could take some time to complete the 10 minute survey below:

http://jhsph.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_b43WJsGcgAeQoPb

All answers are completely anonymous. At the end of the survey, you'll be directed to a separate questionnaire to enter your e-mail address for a chance to win the Amazon gift card. Please direct any questions about the survey to fei@jhu.edu.

American Mock World Health Organization (AMWHO) Hopkins Executive Board Application

This is an application for the E-Board of the Johns Hopkins University Chapter of the American Mock World Health Organization for the 2017-2018 school year. Undergraduate and Master's students are welcome to apply. AMWHO aims to educate students about the proceedings of the WHO through a simulation of the World Health Assembly, the governing body of the WHO. As a new organization at Hopkins, students involved will have a great role in the structure of this chapter. By participating in this organization, you will gain not only leadership experience, but also unparalleled global health policy knowledge. Brief descriptions of the positions can be found here.

To sign up for the international conference click here, or visit their Facebook page.

Join us here at Johns Hopkins University during Spring Fair for what is sure to be another engrossing Human Library event!

The Human Library began in Denmark over 15 years ago in response to a hate crime. It has since grown into a worldwide phenomenon! HL works as a one day event where instead of taking out books, “Readers” or those that attend the event, can “check out” a person that is part of a group in our community that is somehow exposed to stigma, prejudice, and/or discrimination. Have a frank discussion with a Transgender Woman, Survivor of Suicide Loss, or a Sikh person, among so many other titles that will be available for “check out” on Sunday, April 30th at 1pm in the Brody Learning Commons, (adjacent to the Eisenhower Library.) See our Facebook Event page for more details. See you there!

FDA Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research (CBER) Seeking Post-Baccalaureate Fellows

We are looking to fill 3 or 4 one-year post-bac positions in our bacterial genetics lab (under principal investigator Scott Stibitz) at CBER/FDA starting this summer. We are looking for recent grads with some experience with bacteriology and molecular biology. Post-bacs will be working on different projects (Staphylococcus aureus pathogenesis and genetics, Salmonella acid resistance, Shigella vaccine development, Bordetella genetics, and probiotic assay development), but all projects would involve a good deal of cloning and some protein expression. Our lab is within a research branch of the Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research (CBER), located in a new facility on the Food and Drug Administration headquarters main campus at White Oak/Silver Spring, Maryland.

Interested candidates should email their resumes to Roger Plaut at Roger.Plaut@fda.hhs.gov.

Research Technician Position at Scanogen

Scanogen is looking for a motivated and skilled research technician to join the R&D team. Scanogen is a rapidly-growing start-up company developing the first point-of-care nucleic acid detection platform looking for highly driven and inventive individuals to revolutionize clinical diagnostics.

Fellowships and Grants

Fulbright: Spring 2017

Juniors, seniors, and recent graduates are encouraged to apply for the Fulbright US Student Program. As part of the Study/Research Award, applicants may propose a study project (either taking coursework or earning a degree), a research project (joining a lab, conducting fieldwork, pursuing an artistic project, etc.), or a combination of study and research in 1 of 140+ countries.

The English Teaching Assistantship places students predominantly in high schools and universities located in 1 of 75 countries; ETAs teach English language and American culture. At the heart of all of these types of projects is cultural exchange, and the Fulbright particularly seeks students who are culturally curious, open, and eager to engage in their host communities. Students are welcome from all majors - with STEM fields and certain arts fields underrepresented in the Fulbright national candidate pool.
