Hello Students –

WELCOME BACK!!! I hope you all had a wonderful Winter Break. This semester, as always, there will be lots of things going on. For our graduating seniors, the semester is going to feel like it is flying by. Try to take some time and reflect on all of your accomplishments and enjoy your last semester at Hopkins.

One of the big events for this semester is our Center for Talented Youth (CTY) project, “A Day in the Life of the Nervous System”. This year the event will be held on Saturday, March 2nd. If you are interested in getting involved, contact our NRP Co-Presidents Charlotte (ckwok2@jhu.edu) or Kumar (smuthuk1@jhu.edu). More information on this event will follow.

For those of you interested in receiving Program Honors, you will have an opportunity to present your research at the University-wide DREAMS (Day of Research in Engineering, Arts, Medicine and Science) Poster Session presented by HOUR (Hopkins Office for Undergraduate Research). This year, DREAMS will be held on April 5th.

Again, we are happy to have you back. Remember stay on top of your classes, try not to stress out and if you need help – ask for it.

Let the semester begin!!!

| BEHAVIORAL BIOLOGY T-SHIRT | If you did not attend the Social, you can stop by the office to pick up your Behavioral Biology 2018-2019 T-shirt designed by Sage Otterson (2nd year in a row!!!). Animal lovers (especially blue-footed boobies) rejoice!!! |
