

The East Asian Studies Program at Johns Hopkins University

Spring 2012 Faculty & Invited Guest Academic Talks

Fri. Feb 17, 2012

1:00pm - 3:00pm

American University

School of International Service

EQB Lounge

Dr. Gaye Christoffersen:

“Designing a Northeast Asian Energy Regime”

Visiting Professor

Department of Political Science, Johns Hopkins University

Sponsor: The Washington Asian Forum

Wed. Feb 22, 2012

12:00pm - 1:30pm

Johns Hopkins University

Gilman 132

Dr. Wenfang Tang:

“Civic culture in an authoritarian state: explaining regime sustainability in China”

C. Maxwell and Elizabeth M. Stanley Family and Hua Hsia Chair of Chinese Culture and Institutions

Department of Political Science, University of Iowa

Sponsor: The East Asian Studies Program @ JHU

Fri. Feb 24, 2012

2:00pm - 4:00pm

Johns Hopkins University

Gilman 300

Yulia Frumer:

“Creative Junctures: Mechanical Clocks and Reconstruction of the Western Notion of Time in 19th-Century Japan”

Ph.D. Candidate

History of Science, Princeton University

Sponsor: The Department of History of Science and Technology @ JHU

Mon. Mar 5, 2012

7:30pm - 9:00pm

Johns Hopkins University

Krieger 308

Dr. Stephen Szabo:

“How the West Should Respond to the China Challenge”

Executive Director

Transatlantic Academy

Sponsor: The East Asian Studies Program @ JHU

Sun. Apr 15, 2012

2:00pm - 3:30pm

National Gallery of Art

East Building Concourse

Auditorium

Dr. Craig Clunas:

“The Nation”

Professor of History of Art, University of Oxford

Sponsor: The East Asian Studies Program @ JHU will be providing a coach bus for a limited number of guests. Please contact us at eastasian@jhu.edu.

Mon. Apr 23, 2012

12:00pm - 1:30pm

Johns Hopkins University

Gilman 132

Dr. Takakazu Yamagishi

“The Japanese health care system: How it has developed and where it will go?”

Department of British and American Studies, Nanzan University

Visiting Scholar, Department of Government, Georgetown University

Sponsor: The East Asian Studies Program @ JHU