Undergraduates from any two- or four-year college or university are invited to apply to present their original humanities scholarship at our annual conference.

Presentations are up to ten minutes long and can consist of reading a paper, presenting a PowerPoint, reciting original creative writing, or showing an original short film.