How can we mobilize the humanities to inspire social justice activism? This course introduces students to collaborative methods that encourage democratic participation among broad public audiences. We investigate indigenous research methods; collaborative oral history and ethnography; interactive theater; and community archives. Throughout the semester, students benefit from hands-on workshops, course sessions co-taught by community partners, guest lectures, and public talks. Final projects draw on the university’s archival, museum, and library collections.

WeGo Project Looking for Volunteers

Hi Public Health Majors! My name is Brad Parsons and I wanted to share an exciting opportunity to work with myself and a few others on a 501c3 nonprofit that utilizes telepresence robots to connect pediatric inpatients at Johns Hopkins Hospital with local Baltimore attractions. Check out our website to learn more (http://www.wegoproject.org/). We are looking for people to volunteer with us in the hospital as well as join the team and help with marketing, grant writing, and leadership. This is a great opportunity to get independent hospital experience and interaction! Feel free to contact me at bparso10@jhu.edu or email us at wegofoundation@gmail.com if you have any questions. Thanks!

Child and Adolescent Health Measurement Initiative Internship

Do you want experience in public health research in Maternal & Child Health? The Child & Adolescent Health Measurement Initiative (CAHMI) at Johns Hopkins School of Public Health is looking for a motivated, self-directed intern. The mission of the Child and Adolescent Health Measurement Initiative is to advance patient-centered innovations and improvements in children’s health and health care quality. The Undergraduate Intern will primarily work with our National Data Resource Center project and may assist with other CAHMI project work as needed. National Data Resource Center for Child and Adolescent Health (DRC, www.childhealthdata.org): The purpose of the National Maternal and Child Health Data Resource (DRC) is to make available National Survey of Children’s Health (NSCH) findings at the national, regional, and state level through our online, user-friendly Interactive Data Query, downloadable data set features, and other website resources. Additionally, the DRC supports Title V Maternal and Child Health Service Block Grant programs and partners in accessing and effectively utilizing data from each level.
Responsibilities and Duties:
1. Assist in preparing and double-checking data regarding child, maternal, and family health.
2. Provide support for various tasks related to the launch of upcoming NSCH data, including creation of supporting documents and entering data into Survey Manager.
3. Help to create “data snapshots,” or interactive data reports using NSCH data.
4. Help with the assembly of grant reports, technical assistance manuals, PowerPoint presentations, and video trainings.
5. Assist with outreach and dissemination of DRC materials and tools, including social media, newsletters, blog posts, and more.
6. Assist with literature reviews and identifying resources for a variety of projects, as needed.
7. Perform other related duties as required.

Applicant Qualifications/Requirements:
Applicant must be a current undergraduate student at an accredited college or university enrolled in a major related to the health or social sciences field. Interest in research and measurement, especially in the topic of children’s health, is preferred. MS Office skills required; some exposure to MCH measurement and website creation or upkeep preferred. Strong writing and communication skills required. Applicant must have strong attention to detail and a basic understanding of research principles.

Work Schedule:
6-12 hours per week, flexible within business hours and to be determined with applicant.

Directions on how to apply:
Send resume, brief cover letter, and schedule availability to info@cahmi.org, with the subject line “Undergraduate Internship”.

Congressional Internships for John P. Sarbanes, Maryland’s Third Congressional District
John Sarbanes’ office is seeking hardworking and dedicated college students or recent graduates to work as interns in their Towson and Washington, D.C. offices, performing constituent outreach, communications activities, and legislative work. An internship in a Congressional office can be a rewarding opportunity, allowing students to learn directly about the legislative process.

To apply, please send a cover letter, a resume, and a list of references to employment@mail.house.gov.

Maryland Department of Aging Internship
The Maryland Department of Aging offers both undergraduate and graduate students the opportunity to put their education to work. Interns will gain valuable experience in a cabinet agency that offers:

- Knowledge about older adults and individuals with disabilities, and applicable community services and resources available to these populations;
- Insight into the development and execution of public policies;
- Experience in program planning and analysis;
Interns may work in a variety of programs in the areas of Long-Term Services (LTS) and Client and Community Services (CCS). These programs and initiatives are supported by the federal Administration on Community Living (ACL), the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), and other state and federal partners. A focus of the internship will be assistance with improving the Maryland Access Point referral network database through provider outreach and updates. Click here to learn more and/or apply.

Applications close September 19th at 11:59 pm. For more information, including FAQs and how to apply, click here.

Full-Time Research Assistant Position Available at JHUSOM

Johns Hopkins Schizophrenia Center has a full-time Research Assistant position. The position requires a two year commitment, and a bachelor's degree in a health science related field (graduates in the December of 2019 are eligible). Responsibilities include recruiting and screening healthy controls, patients with first episode psychosis patients, and those with related brain disorders (e.g., Alzheimer’s disease, mood disorders) into the study. Involves regularly interacting with patients’ families and healthcare providers as well as escorting participants through various study procedures such as neurocognitive testing, blood draws, MRIs, among others. The position also involves data organization/management and will provide leadership opportunities. Educational experiences include attendance at Teaching Rounds and there is the potential for inclusion in research papers. To inquire further about this position, please send the CV to JHSZC_recruit@jhu.edu.
The Johns Hopkins Armstrong Institute for Patient Safety and Quality (AI) is in search of responsible, motivated, and hard-working individuals to assist with data collection and analysis on two related projects funded by NASA and DARPA. These projects investigate social interaction and team resilience at NASA research facilities and the Johns Hopkins Hospital. The position is under the supervision of Dr. Michael Rosen and his research team.

Qualifications

The right person will have strong written and spoken communication skills; be detail-oriented; and take responsibility for meeting deadlines and making progress without direct supervision. The applicant’s conduct must align with AI’s core behaviors, which are to be humble and curious; respect, appreciate, and help others; and be accountable to continuously improve themselves, the organization, and the community. Data collection begins early in the morning and requires RA to be present at the Johns Hopkins Hospital by 7am on data collection days. Minimum time commitment of 10 hours per week.

Minimum suggested GPA is 3.0. Lower GPAs will be considered with letter of recommendation or other appropriate references.

For More Information or to Apply:

Contact Salar Khaleghzadegan (skhaleg1@jhmi.edu) or Dr. Michael Rosen (mrosen44@jhmi.edu). Please include “Research Assistant Position Inquiry” as the subject line. Send your resume or CV to apply.
